Health Research Call

Submit your application
Until November 19th 2025

Behind every scientific question lies a world to discover. If yours could reshape how we diagnose and treat disease—and deliver lasting social impact—you could receive up to one million euros in support.

The "la Caixa" Foundation Health Research Call invites outstanding scientists in Spain and Portugal to turn their questions into transformative projects in oncology, cardiovascular and metabolic disorders, neuroscience and infectious diseases, as well as enabling technologies for these areas.

Make your findings matter. Apply now.

Subject: Applications for the Health Research Call 2026 are now open!

The banner features the "la Caixa" Foundation logo on the left, which consists of a stylized blue star with a red dot. To the right of the logo is the text "la Caixa" Foundation. The main title "Health Research Call" is prominently displayed in large, bold, black font. Below the title, it says "Submit your application Until November 19th 2025". On the right side of the banner is a vibrant, abstract image of a red, textured, spherical object, possibly a cell or a microorganism, surrounded by smaller, glowing blue and green particles. The phrase "A world to discover" is written in a white, cursive font at the bottom right of the image.

Body text:

"la Caixa" Foundation invites outstanding scientists from Spain and Portugal to submit their projects in oncology, cardiovascular and metabolic disorders, neuroscience and infectious diseases, as well as enabling technologies for these areas.

If your work has the potential to deliver lasting social impact, you could receive up to one million euros in support.

You can submit your application until 19 November 2025.
