HealthCare Research Call

Improving health goes beyond treating illness—it's also about preventing it and promoting wellbeing at all stages of life. The new HealthCare Research Call aims to support projects from Spain and Portugal that embrace this approach.

If your research designs, tests or evaluates healthcare interventions—whether through a pilot study, a retrospective evaluation, or new interventions—you could receive up to 300,000 euros in funding.

Because caring for health means thinking ahead. Apply now.

New funding opportunity for projects in health promotion and disease prevention

Apply by 25 February 2026

Example LinkedIn post

The image shows a LinkedIn post layout. At the top left is the logo for "la Caixa" Foundation, which consists of a blue star-like icon and the text "la Caixa" Foundation. Below the logo, the main title "HealthCare Research Call" is written in a large, bold, black font. Underneath the title, the text "Submit your application" is written in a smaller, bold, black font, followed by "Until 25 February 2026" in a regular black font. On the right side of the post, there are two images: a blurred image of a person's legs running on a track, and a glowing blue 3D model of human lungs. At the bottom right of the post, the phrase "A world to discover" is written in a white, italicized font.
